

The GovDocs Acceptable Use Policy

This acceptable use policy sets out the terms to access the GovDocs, Inc. ("GovDocs") website www.govdocs.com or any accessible applications through the GovDocs site. This acceptable use policy applies to all Customers users of, and visitors to, GovDocs site.

1. Customer may use GovDocs site only for lawful purposes. Customer is prohibited from use of GovDocs site for the following activities
 - a. In any way that breaches any applicable local, national or international law or regulation.
 - b. In any way that is unlawful or fraudulent, or has any unlawful or fraudulent purpose or effect.
 - c. To send, or procure the sending of, any unsolicited or unauthorized advertising or promotional material or any other form of similar solicitation (spam).
 - d. To knowingly transmit any data, send or upload any material that contains viruses, Trojan horses, or any other harmful programs or similar computer code designed to adversely affect the operation of any computer software or hardware.
 - e. To reproduce, duplicate, copy or resell any part of our site or associated applications accessible herein in contravention of the provisions of our terms of website use.
 - f. To access without authority, interfere with, damage or disrupt:
 - i. any part of our site;
 - ii. any equipment or network on which our site is stored;
 - iii. any software used in conjunction with our site; or
 - iv. any equipment or network or software owned or used by any third party.
2. GovDocs, Inc. will solely determine whether this acceptable use policy was breached by Customer use of our site.
 - a. When a breach of this policy has occurred, GovDocs will provide notice to the Customer. Customer must provide remedy to breach within five (5) business days.
 - b. Failure to cure breach is considered a material breach and may allow for termination of agreement and GovDocs may pursue legal remedies for which Customer will be responsible for all legal and direct costs resulting from the breach.
 - c. GovDocs remedies are excluded from limitations for liability for actions taken in response to breaches of this acceptable use policy.
 - d. The responses described in this policy are not limited, and we may take any other action we reasonably deem appropriate.