

The Right Location Jurisdiction, Every Time.

With the rise of city and county employment laws, identifying a location's jurisdictional requirements has become increasingly complex. Zip codes and city names are an inaccurate indicator of a location's jurisdiction. GovDocs is releasing LocationCheck[™], which uses latitude and longitude rooftop precision to pinpoint the correct jurisdiction for a location. This innovation eliminates manual jurisdiction identification work and mitigates the risk of location noncompliance, audits, lawsuits, and fines from departments of labor.

Confidence in the Coordinates.

GovDocs LocationCheck technology uses exact roof-top precision for locations by simply taking your addresses, streamlining the research and validation process, which in return assigns longitude and latitude coordinates to determine your location's city, county, and state jurisdiction assignment.

If you have one location or tens of thousands of locations, it only takes one wrong jurisdiction to be out of compliance. LocationCheck is the behind-the-scenes technology to:

Streamline organization-wide audits with precise jurisdictional assignments, ensuring full confidence in meeting city and county requirements across all locations.

Eliminate manual research by automatically determining if your location falls within a city, county, neighborhood, district, ward, or borough, saving time and ensuring compliance.

Prevent costly fines by eliminating errors in jurisdictional assignments, ensuring required postings and laws are applied to the correct locations.
